The Green Lady Dispensary Makes History with First-Ever Shipment of Cannabis to Nantucket Island

(Nantucket, MA) [November 13, 2024] — The Green Lady Dispensary has officially made history by becoming the first and only dispensary on Nantucket to receive a shipment of cannabis products, following a landmark legal victory that permitted cannabis transportation to the island. This regulation change, finalized in June, addressed longstanding restrictions that had prevented dispensaries from legally bringing cannabis products to remote islands, impacting communities like Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard. The lawsuit enabling this breakthrough received national coverage from the New York Post,

The New York Times, and The Boston Globe, highlighting the importance of this milestone for the cannabis industry and local access to legal cannabis.

“In the world of cannabis, this is history-making,” says Nicole Campbell, Owner of The Green Lady. “We are proud to be the first—and, for now, the only—dispensary bringing cannabis to Nantucket. This is a huge win for our family-run business, and an even bigger win for our industry.”

Transporting cannabis to the island presents unique logistical challenges, requiring skilled navigation on a small boat to safely maneuver through shallow waters, sandbars, and unpredictable weather. “As any boat captain knows, there are perils,” Campbell explains. “It’s a long, roundabout trip that’s difficult to make, but we have successfully brought the first shipment to the island. The journey to reach this point was not easy, but it is a meaningful accomplishment for our team and the entire community.”

The Green Lady’s first shipment includes an extensive selection of premium cannabis products. Among them are flower, pre-rolls, infused joints, chocolates, pills, taffy, and tinctures, giving consumers a variety of choices tailored to their preferences. “Consumers love having choices, and now they have more options than ever,” Campbell notes.

In preparation for this shipment, The Green Lady team conducted extensive research to curate a menu that reflects the best of the industry. Prioritizing small craft cultivators over larger multi-state operators (MSOs), Campbell and her team selected top-quality brands that align with the unique tastes of Nantucket’s residents and visitors. “We did the homework to only bring the best quality cannabis products to the island. Our goal is to offer a selection that not only meets our standards but truly aligns with what the Nantucket consumer will appreciate,” she says.

Since the arrival, sales have exceeded expectations as both locals and tourists embrace the dispensary’s expanded offerings. Looking ahead, The Green Lady plans to introduce a range of specialized medical products, broadening access for their medical customers and further solidifying their place as Nantucket’s go-to cannabis destination.
